

A low-angle photograph looking up into the branches of a large, leafless tree against a clear blue sky. Two children are climbing within the tree's canopy. One child, wearing a bright pink jacket and a pink hat, is higher up. The other child, wearing a colorful patterned jacket, is slightly below and to the left. The tree's branches are thick and gnarled, with many smaller, thinner branches reaching out. The overall scene is bright and clear.
